A NOD NOT A REAL BET. IS LAWYER'S CONTENTION

Counsel in Alleged Bookmaking Case Applies for Habeas Corpus for Shane.

MINOLTA, L. I. June 29.—A bet is not a bet when it is a nod, is the contention of counsel for Paul Shane, who was arrested at the Belmont Park terminal during the meeting of the National Hunt Association a few days ago. The contention of the State is that a bet is a bet whether it is made orally or by a nod. The law states that "with or without writing" that betting is a crime. This matter was brought out to-day when John J. Graham, counsel for Shane, applied in Special Term here before Justice Scudder for a writ of habeas corpus to show cause for a writ of habeas corpus to show cause for Shane's release.

Graham holds that there is nothing in the law to prohibit individuals from betting with each other, and that such betting could not by any means be construed as gambling. On the other hand, Assistant District Attorney McCarthy, for the State, holds that the amendment to the gambling law which was made in 1910 was for the very purpose of putting a stop to just such bookmaking as Shane is accused of.

Justice Scudder said he would take the application for a writ of habeas corpus under consideration, and in the mean time he wants counsel for both sides to submit briefs. The arrest of Shane created great excitement at the meeting of the Hunt Club, and resulted a few days later in statements being given out by August and Perry Belmont to the effect that they were opposed to any one making book on the races, and that they would fight the case and clear their own names of any knowledge of such practices. He said bookmaking was against the rules on the grounds and they were anxious that bookmakers should be kept out of the grounds.

GIRL BITTEN BY DOG TAKEN TO HOSPITAL WITH HYDROPHOBIA

Four Brothers and Sisters, Scratched by Pup, to Take Pasteur Treatment.

Mary O'Leary, three years old, of Dahlgren place, Fort Hamilton, is being treated to-day for hydrophobia. Her four brothers and sisters are to be examined by doctors to decide whether it is advisable for them to take the Pasteur treatment.

Stephen O'Leary, father of the children, is a tailor at the fort. Until a few days ago the family lived at Battery place, about a block from their present home. They had a little mongrel named Pup, which was a favorite with the children.

June 12, while Mary was romping with Pup, the animal bit her over the left eye and on the cheek. The lacerations were patched up by her mother after O'Leary had shot the dog and buried it near the yard.

Day before yesterday Mary awoke complaining of being thirsty. When water was offered to her she began to scream and went into convulsions. A doctor in the neighborhood was called and said there was nothing the matter except that she had a high fever. She did not improve yesterday.

At 2.30 this morning she screams awoke her parents and they found her exhibiting every symptom of hydrophobia. Dr. Cook was called from Norwegian Hospital and immediately said that was what she had.

Dr. Cook ordered the child taken to Bellevue Hospital, where she might receive injections of serum for hydrophobia. Her mother placed her on a flatbed avenue car to bring her to Manhattan. At St. Mark's avenue the child fell from the seat of the car, screaming in convulsions.

Patrolman Williams of the Bergen street station summoned Dr. Ryan from the family home and the little girl was taken there instead of to Bellevue.

The other four children—Tillie eleven, Frances nine, James seven and Willie three months old—had been scratched while playing with Pup and while none of them has shown any ill effects it is probable all will be given the Pasteur treatment as a precaution.

DR. CRAPSEY ARRESTED; DEFIES UP-STATE POLICE.

Unfrosted Episcopal Clergyman, Taken in as "Suspicious" at Dunkirk, Is Later Set Free.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., June 29.—Rev. Algernon R. Crapsey of Rochester, the defendant a few years ago in one of the most celebrated recent trials for heresy and who was subsequently unfrocked by the Episcopal Church, was arrested here early to-day in the business section by a policeman who thought Dr. Crapsey was acting in a suspicious manner.

At Police Headquarters Dr. Crapsey gave his name and explained that he had been holding on the street to kill time while waiting for a train and after defying the police to put him in a cell was allowed to go. Later he took a train for the East. He had been lecturing on socialism the evening before at Fredonia.
